A DAGGER THRUST AT THE SOFT UNDERBELLY OF BETHEL, at least in terms of visual impact. The kite-shaped, 14-acre parcel of land (arrow) sought by the Mahoosuc Land Trust provides visitors to Bethel not only with an entryway of green grass, but also with an unsurpassed view of the mountains to the north and west of the village. Land trust has key parcel under contract But now must raise $75,000 for the purchase

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The Mahoosuc Land Trust has reached an agreement to purchase a key, 14-acre parcel of undeveloped land at the intersection of Route 26 and the Intervale Road.

The land trust has also launched a $75,000 fundraising campaign to cover the purchase price of the land ($75,000) and to provide for its future management.

In announcing the purchase agreement, MLT executive director Marcel Polak pointed to the visual importance of the parcel, which provides visitors arriving in Bethel with an unsurpassed view of the mountains to the north and west of the village.

But he also stressed that to complete the purchase the land trust needed the support of the community. "The way I look at it, we're sticking our neck out and giving the community the opportunity to show

"We're doing it the old-fashioned way -- we're buying it."

KEN BOHR
MLT board chairman

whether or not it's willing to support land conservation."

The Verrill property is diamond shaped, currently an open field, and lies almost entirely in the 100-year floodplain. The parcel is potentially developable, but because of floodplain regulations it would be costly to undertake development there.

The soils are unsuitable for subsurface waste disposal, Polak said, and a would-be developer would have to put in nine feet of fill before construction any buildings.

These economic handicaps have served to keep the property in a price range the MLT believes it can afford, according to Ken Bohr, chairman of the land trust board.

Unlike past MLT land deals, which generally involve conservation easements, this will be an outright purchase.

"We're doing it the old-fashioned way -- we're buying it," Bohr quipped.

The land trust has applied for a $36,000 grant from the Bingham Foundation, and any of the $60,000 it is not able to raise would probably be financed through the Maine Coast Heritage Trust, Bohr said.

Polak called the view over the parcel "the literal and symbolic gateway to Bethel. Residents and visitors who return feel that they have arrived when that view appears," he said. "It is the same view that greeted the first train riders in the 1850s and appears in advertisements of the period for the railroad. At the turn of the century many artists came to the White Mountains and the Mahoosuc Mountains to paint this scene. There were other places in Bethel where this view was visible but, largely due to trees growing in the way, these views have been lost."

Couple escapes as wee hours blaze guts farm

By ALISON ALOISIO

James and Flo Everett escaped an early morning fire at their Mason Township farmhouse Tuesday, thanks to the quick work of their son and neighbor, Robert.

Robert's wife, Camilla, said her husband spotted a fire that started in the barn at about 2:30 a.m.

"He saw the fire, ran down, and got them out. He pulled Flo out through the window in the sunporch," she said.

James Everett got out on his own, she said.

The 110-foot long barn was leveled, and the house was gutted. Some of the Everetts' belongings were saved, including rifles and an organ.

A dog and cat trapped in the barn died in the blaze.

Fire departments from Bethel, Gilead, Greenwood, and Newry fought the fire or stood by at the Bethel station, according to Bethel assistant chief David Brown.

He said a pond on Robert Everett's property was drained nearly dry by a pumper truck in the effort to douse the flames. Water was also pumped from a nearby stream.

Brown said the cause of the fire is unknown, but an investigation is continuing. The Bethel Fire Department was still on the scene late Tuesday morning.

Camilla Everett expressed her appreciation for help offered by neighbors.

"There was a big turnout of neighbors at 2:30 in the morning. The road was full of people trying to help. They were parked all the way to the corner," she said.

Camilla said her in-laws would be staying with her for the time being. She said the farmhouse was insured.

The family plans to rebuild. "I've been here 40 years and I'm going to stay," said Jim Everett.

Planners OK movie signs, gazebo

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The Bethel Planning Board has given its formal stamp of approval to the gazebo planned for the Bethel town common.

All that now stands between ground breaking for the project is raising the balance (roughly half) of the estimated $15,000 in construction costs.

The planners' vote last week to approve the gazebo was unanimous, and they were also unanimous in agreeing to waive the application fee for the structure. The only concern raised was regarding the possibility of vandalism.

Stan Howe, an abutter of the common and a Planning Board member, worried that if the gazebo were not well lighted it could become "a major hangout."

But gazebo architect Stuart

Crocker said the interior of the structure would be illuminated by recessed lights in the ceiling, and the lights would be screened to protect them from vandalism.

David Thurston, who is heading the gazebo fundraising effort, said he hoped to generate enough money to install two electrical circuits in the structure -- one for the lights only and another for musical instruments. The latter circuit would be shut off when the gazebo was not supposed to be in use, he said.

If the project is successful, the structure will be donated to the town, which will set policies for its use. The Bethel selectmen have already approved such an arrangement.

Howe made the motion to find the site plan application complete. "I'm looking forward to sitting on my porch listening to the music," he said.

Thurston said later that if contributions continue to come in, the gazebo could be completed by Labor Day. (Collection jars are out in some local businesses, and the fundraisers plan to sell gazebo T-shirts on Mollycoddle Day.)

Movie signage approved

The Planning Board members were also unanimous last week in approving two signage waivers for the Casablanca Movie Theater.

It was the board's first application of the town's new sign ordinance.

The first waiver allows the building's two signs to be located on adjacent, rather than opposite, walls.

The new ordinance calls for such

Accidents mar week

By DUANE HAYES
and ALISON ALOISIO

Area public safety officials were busy over the weekend with a flurry of accidents.

A shifting load of lumber is being blamed for an 18-wheeler overturning and tumbling down an embankment on Route 2 on Friday. Police said Raymond Lyons was driving the truck west toward New Hampshire, carrying a full load of lumber. The lumber shifted as the truck rounded a corner about two miles from the Bethel town line.

The truck hit the soft shoulder

NTL coming back in force

By ALISON ALOISIO

The number of NTL participants coming to Bethel will be up this year -- good news for both the organization and local businesses.

NTL Bethel manager Kathi Schandelmeyer expects between 75 and 100 more participants this season.

Last year a total of about 750 people from the U.S. and other countries took part in NTL group dynamics and personal growth workshops.

Schandelmeyer said she thought NTL was wise to keep its operation in Bethel, after considering leaving several years ago.

"It's a good environment for the human interaction and personal growth workshops. It's perfect -- nothing's better," she said.

The 1995 NTL catalog includes a sidebar article describing Bethel as "an ideal setting for NTL's summer conferences with its mild days, cool

PIZZA SHOP TO GO, VIEW TO RETURN Developer Patty Thurston has purchased the former Bethel Pizza Shop building (left) and plans to tear it down to make room for greenspace. Thurston, who is restoring the Four Seasons Inn next door, described her latest purchase as "a defensive maneuver," to prevent development on the site that would clash with the Four Seasons' project. She said she has yet to work out the details for the parcel, but no new buildings will be built there. One possibility, she said, is a landscaped greenspace that would be offered to the town. The present pizza shop building dates from the 1930s and has been owned by John and Edleen Winslow since the early 1980s. Thurston said she paid $70,000 for the property, which only a few years ago was on the market for well over $100,000. With the shop torn down and the Four Seasons' restored, the view at the corner will be much as it was at the turn of the century, when the photo to the right was taken. But sadly, of course, no one has yet come up with any way to restore the elms. See this week's Moses Mason House column, looking back 100 years, for more. (Photo to left by Michael Daniels)

FIREWORKS FIZZLE

To the Editor:

Somewhere children are laughing/Somewhere hearts are light...but/There will be no joy in Bethelville/There will be no "oohs" and "aahs,"/There will be no sky-rockets and echoing thunder.../For the mighty Casey has struck out. (Apologies to "Casey at the Bat").

Our thanks go out to all those who generously pledged monies for fireworks on July Fourth. Our skyrockets were dampened by an apparent lack of enthusiasm and a lack of donations. Maybe next year? Once again thanks to those who supported our efforts and hope they will remember us in 1996. "Wait 'til next year."

BED RACE CHALLENGE

To the Editor:

The defending champions are going for a third straight title. Tri-Town Rescue issues a challenge to any team in the greater Bethel area who wants to prove their expertise in speed and "quality care" during the 1995 Mollycodd Day Bed Race. The short distance, bed-pushing race will be held on Broad Street next to the common on Saturday, July 15, at 1 p.m. Teams include four people, one on each corner of the bed, and one patient to be the guinea pig and have all the "treatments" and ride in the bed. The patient may be a child or a small adult (or a large adult if the team wants to work harder). Stations include blood pressure and vital signs, bandaging a head wound, a front-only bed bath (suggested patient wear a bathing suit or something they don't care about getting wet), and wrapping an injured hand. Any team of five people may enter. No entrance fee. All rules will be reviewed at the site that day. For more information contact Tri-Town Rescue, evenings 674-2963, or the Tri-Town Rescue station days 674-2400.

GENTEEL PIANO RECITAL

To the Editor:

On June 18 I had the pleasure of attending a piano recital presented by Ruth Silver and her students. They all performed with great aplomb, a credit to their teacher.

What also impressed me very much was the dignity and quiet manner with which they conducted themselves. The young ladies in pretty dresses, the young men in their suits and ties, making their curtsy and bow to the audience was reminiscent of a more genteel period.

Kudos to all!

THE GOD OF BETHEL

To the Editor:

"Look at that!" "The Bethel News". Title: "Bethel News" "A city that is set on a hill cannot be hid."

Do you know who said that? ... Jesus Christ ... God's only son in Matthew 5:14 ... and in Genesis 31:12 we read the words of God "I am the God of Bethel."

Also the front page, column five: Rev. A. Hamilton, during the Sunday services on Memorial Day spoke on "The Good Soldiers" 2 Timothy 2:3, concluding with the end of Christians warfare, the triumphal entry of the ransomed soul into the New Jerusalem (Heaven), with heavenly music by angel choirs hearing the words: "Well done good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of the Lord."

Yes, and on the first page also several references to spiritual matters, here now 100 years later: "A city that is set on a hill" we read Matthew 5:14. We also see "you are the light of the world."

Referring to Bethel today it seems to have lost its light. Verse 13: "you are the salt of the earth. But if the salt loses its saltiness, how can it be salty again? ... it is no longer good for anything except to be thrown out and trampled by men."

Have we lost the essence of being Christlike? Will we at the end of life here on earth hear those angelic choirs?

A. W. Tozer's book "Evangelical Christianity" ... "at least the U.S. is now tragically below the New Testament standard. Our religious mood is social instead of spiritual and Satan's quest to dampen "the Word" is evidence of spiritual laziness."

The words "being born again" John 3:3 is a phrase used in industry for a better product.

The encroachment upon our religious liberty is quite evident. No bibles nor prayers allowed in public schools...abortion goes on as 1,600,000 children are killed in their mothers wombs each year.

Yes, Christians are being put to the test to live godly lives. Even some preachers are departing from the faith.

The answer to our loss: "Everyone who calls on the name of the Lord Jesus will be saved." Romans 10:13

"Look to the Lamb of God, Christ who takes away the sin of the world" John 1:29 ... Choose Christ today ... get into a bible ... the whole bible believing church.

LAKE USE INFO: NOW THERE'S NO EXCUSE FOR IGNORANCE--Nancy Willard, Jim Chandler and Peter Brown of the Community Lakes Association place an educational kiosk in the ground at the boat launching facility on Lake Christopher. The kiosks were built by Robert Gunderson and Jon DeNormandie, also on the Executive Committee of the Association. At the last annual meeting in July 1994 an Educational Committee was formed and is chaired by Paula Wheeler of Songo Pond. The committee met several times in the fall and agreed on the essential information needed for people to promote clean water, preserve the lake shore and practice boating and water safety. Posters displaying this information were made and donated by Inman Printing of Bryant Pond. "Look Out for Loon" posters are available from Maine Audubon Society for $1. The Community Lakes Association will hold its annual meeting July 8 at 9 a.m. at the Maine Conservation School on Lake Christopher (8:30 welcome, coffee, paying dues). Everyone who is interested in the safe use and preservation of area lakes is encouraged to attend. Questions: call Nancy Willard at 665-2788.

Land Trust

Last September, a "for sale" sign appeared on the property, which is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Verrill. The Verrills live in Hilton Head S.C., but maintain a residence on the Sunday River Road.

According to Polak, the very features that make the parcel so important as a scenic site are the same ones that contribute to its value as a commercial site.

Last year Polak published a master's thesis in which he identified important natural resources, historical sites, and recreational sites in the Bethel area.

The listing was part of an effort to prioritize MLT's land-protection efforts.

One segment of the land conservation strategy was a quantitative scenic assessment. Fifty-five sites along public roads in the Bethel area were evaluated for specific scenic indicators -- including change in elevation, size of fields, views to mountains, and duration of view.

The site with the highest score, the most scenic site in the study, was the view over the Verrill property.

In January MLT started negotiations with the Verrills, through Kenneth Realty. Long-time visitors to the Bethel area, the couple worked with Mahoosuc Land Trust to find an equitable price, Polak said, finally agreeing to place the property under contract for $60,000.

If the fundraising is successful, MLT will hold this property in trust for Bethel area residents and visitors, Polak said. Some suggested uses include community gardens, athletic fields, scenic vehicle pull-out with interpretive maps, lease to local farmers for agricultural uses, and just leaving it the way it is.

Greenwood Town Meeting July 25

By ALISON ALOISIO

Selectmen will ask voters July 25 for $3,500 to help in the search for a town manager. They will also ask townspeople's blessing to move the veterans monument currently on the town common.

A special Town Meeting has been scheduled to authorize $3,000 to hire a Maine Municipal Association consultant to aid selectmen in the search for a town manager. Another $500 will be requested for advertising for the position.

Townspeople voted to create the town manager position at the annual Town Meeting in March.

Selectman chairman Marie Bartlett said at last week's selectmen's meeting that the money, if approved, would be taken from the unappropriated surplus account.

The MMA consultant would guide selectmen through an eight-step hiring process. The steps would include conducting a needs assessment for the position, recruitment, developing a rating system for use in reviewing resumes, reviewing resumes, interviews, candidate background checks, and final interviews.

"We could use the professional help they can offer -- particularly in screening and interviewing, and knowing what questions to ask. All the selectmen feel it would be helpful, especially since it's the first time," Bartlett said.

Monument relocation

Selectmen will also ask voters to approve moving the veterans' monument from the town common to the Jackson-Silver American Legion Post.

Bartlett said there is little room now to hold Memorial Day services near the monument, and the situation will only get worse when Route 26 in Locke Mills is widened in about two years.

She said the idea to relocate the memorial came out of selectmen's discussion a month ago about repairing it. They approached the Legion with the idea, and members then voted to accept the monument.

"It seems appropriate to me to move it. It may get more notice there," selectman Carl Curtis said.

The monument's nameplate would be redone, with names from the Vietnam and Persian Gulf conflicts added. Veterans from World Wars I and II and Korea are currently listed.

Bartlett said the town has funds for repairing the monument, and the Legion has offered to share in the cost as well.

The meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. in the Town Office.

This old Bulfinch house

By MIKE BROWN

The Maine State House, designed by Charles Bulfinch and cornerstoned in 1829, is still the epicenter of political earthquakes which reshape Maine from time to time, but it's also Maine's most public house and much goes on amid the Hallowell granite that has little to do with partisan tremors.

The State House is host to an incredible number of school kids, who not only visit the rooms and halls of the old place, but watch close up and very personal the actions of the House and Senate. In the supposedly august Senate chamber, the senators conduct their daily business walking around, over (and sometimes on) students sitting like herds of colorful butterflies on the blue carpeted floor.

Congenial Bob Cammack, working from the office of House Clerk Joe Mayo, chaperoned nearly 6,000 Maine students through the State House in March, April and May of this year. Another 1,500 were expected to be added in June. And those are just the scheduled tours.

In addition to student tours, there were about 500 honorary student pages flitting about the House passing out papers and running notes and errands under the direction of the permanent House staff. Pages are recommended by legislators and none are refused the honor.

A visitor to the State House can just walk around uninhibited. Only on a very few occasions are there uniformed officers from the State House Security present. There are, however, plain clothes state troopers stuck permanently to the governor.

Visitors express surprise that the 151 House members have only a small gym locker and House chamber desk as personal accommodations. However, there are partisan offices and staffs where the members do constituent business. Also a small "retiring" room. Committee chairs do have small perk offices, primarily for committee staffs.

The 35 senators, few in number, spread quite resourcefully into the niches and crannies of the State House for privacy. Especially the majority party, which had the more roomier private digs. The minority party is closeted.

Lobbyists take up considerable space, although they are sort of corralled in a specific area off the rotunda on very worn leather benches opposite a bank of lobbyists' phone booths. They also have a card table common staff person to take and route incoming messages.

Lobbyists are not allowed in the House when in session. For some irrational reason they have free access to the Senate chamber when in session and sit about 10 uninhibited feet from the floor debates eyeballing uncomfortable senators.

The State House is not air conditioned, confirming as one wag said, nothing manmade could condition all the hot air. There are portable conditioners stuck here and there in hideaway office windows. But on a blistering hot day on the Kennebec, windows are thrown open, shades drawn, jackets doffed, lights turned off and borrowed Canadian breezes are passed through Charlie Bulfinch's political granite granary.

The old mossbacks know where to head for real cool -- the wicker rockers on the second floor's colonnade portico. It's also the only place "in" the State House where smoking is permitted.

The only areas in the State House that are commercially air conditioned are the governor's office and the press center, which is where the commonality is supposed to end.

The press center, formerly a crowded fishing stall skybox in the State House, was created by dispossessing squirrels, moles and mice from their State House cellar warrens and constructing even smaller pocket offices for the media. Few legislators know where the press center is and even fewer dare descend into the snakepit.

Of course, the biggest gimmick in state government concerns the State House -- keeping its hollow and expensive space occupied when the legislature is mostly not in session just to let visiting kids yell back and forth with their echo.

(Veteran newsman and columnist Mike Brown writes regularly on the Augusta political scene. His views are his own and do not necessarily reflect those of The Citizen.)

THIS WEEK AT THE

Moses Mason House

All members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society are reminded that the annual Society Picnic will be held on Thursday, July 6 and feature a tour of some Greenwood historical sites.

Those wishing to go on the historical tour should gather at the Locke Mills Church at 5 p.m. where Greenwood native and Society life member Stephen T. Seames will begin the tour. Among other sites to be included are the Martin Neighborhood Cemetery, Greenwood Center, the Greenwood Cattle Pound, Greenwood City and finally Patch Mountain, where about 6:30 all will assemble at the summer home of Ernest and Beverly Casarra for a picnic. Please bring your lunch. The Society will furnish punch. The picnic/tour is open to anyone interested. A special invitation is extended to members of the Greenwood Historical Society. Anyone wishing further information should call the Society office at 824-2908.

Everyone is cordially invited to the Bethel Historical Society's Third Annual Community Picnic. Those wishing to attend should assemble about 11:30 a.m. on the grounds of the Dr. Moses Mason House on Broad Street. Jim Rose will make a Fourth of July historical presentation and at about noon, the Portland Brass Quintet will give a concert. Their appearance has been made possible by grants from the Maine Arts Commission, the Mahoosuc Arts Council, and the Hall Memorial Fund of the Bethel Historical Society. Other contributions have also been received from organizations and individuals.

Hastings Campground bear trapped

BACHELDER'S GRANT--A large male bear that had been raiding the dumpster at Hastings Campground has been trapped and relocated, according to Pat Nasta of the White Mountain National Forest public affairs department. The campground was closed last week out of concern for the safety of both people and the bear. Nasta said Monday the bear was trapped on Friday, and relocated at least 60 miles away. There has been no sign for a week of a second bear, a female, that had also been seen in the area. Nasta said bear-resistant dumpsters are being installed in the campground, and officials hoped the area would be reopened by today. Nasta urges campers to store food in their cars when it is not being used, or hang it from a tree at least 10 feet above the ground and five feet out on a limb, away from sleeping areas. "If you spill food on your clothing, change it, and don't feed bears or approach them for pictures. They can be unpredictable," Nasta said. "Normally people and bears can live together peacefully -- except when it comes to food."

Fire strikes twice in same place

BETHEL--The Fire Department extinguished a debris pile blaze last week that threatened a building under construction on the Martin Lane Road. The fire was on the Jeffrey Tibbets' property. Bethel fire chief Jim Young said a contractor was burning debris from a building that had been torn down when the fire got out of control. It spread to brush and grass nearby, and damaged electrical wiring in a new house under construction on the site. A permit had been issued to burn the debris. A fire in February destroyed another building on the same property.

Transfer station grant for Andover

ANDOVER--Selectmen announced last week the town has received a $57,000 state grant to build a solid waste transfer station at the old dump site. The funds will be used to make the present station a workable facility, according to selectman Joe Madigan. He said the recycling and dump committee will look into the possibility of buying a compactor, putting in electricity, and constructing a building.

SAD17 budget up 6.9 percent

SOUTH PARIS--About 150 SAD17 residents last week approved an $18,621,909 budget for the 1995-96 school year. The figure is 6.9 percent higher than this year's budget, but due to loss of revenue the local assessment will increase an average of 12.16 percent. The budget meeting lasted about 30 minutes.

New lean-to on Appalachian Trail

GRAFTON TOWNSHIP--Hikers on the Appalachian Trail in western Maine will find a new lean-to next fall, thanks to efforts on Saturday by the Maine Army National Guard. Four helicopters from an army guard aviation unit in Bangor airlifted loads of timber on Saturday to the West Peak of Baldpate Mountain near Grafton Notch State Park. Members of the Maine Appalachian Club will use the wood to build a lean-to, with room for eight people to sleep, by early August. The new lean-to will replace one built in 1935 by the depression-era civilian conservation corps.

No "207" after July 14

AUGUSTA--It will no longer be necessary for NYNEX customers in Maine to dial "207" to make long-distance calls within the state as of July 14, the company announced. Customers will need to dial only seven digits for in-state long-distance calls, but they can continue dialing the 11-digit number -- 1 plus the area code -- if they prefer. The Public Utilities Commission ordered NYNEX to require the 11-digit numbers in March 1994 so customers would be aware that they were making long-distance calls. A year later, the PUC reversed the decision. "The public outcry was quick and fairly loud that they didn't like it," said Chris Simpson, the PUC's administrative director.

Cows die of alcohol poisoning

MONTPELIER, VT.--The state has taken steps to regulate the use of bakery waste to feed livestock, after four cows died from eating unbaked dough last month. The Agriculture Department will require distributors of bakery waste to register an ingredients label with the state, according to officials. Four cows on a Guilford farm died of alcohol poisoning after eating stale bread and dough from a local bakery. Farmer Fred Cheney bought a truckload of bread from LePage Bakery in Brattleboro. The bakery uses Great Northern Recyclers of Maine to take away bakery waste and sell it to dairy farms. Cheney said when the bread arrived, the 20,000 loaves were individually wrapped in plastic bags, with unbaked dough and trash mixed into the pile. He left it in the yard, and began wrangling with the distributor to take it away. When the bread was about two weeks old, the cows broke down the pasture fence and ate it. Cheney found them lying on their sides, gasping for breath. Four cows died, while a veterinarian was able to save about 25. Lab results showed they had alcohol poisoning. Cows cannot digest the yeast in unbaked dough because it reacts in their stomachs to produce alcohol.

Survey finds homelessness up

AUGUSTA--The number of Mainers using emergency homeless shelters jumped by 13 percent in the first three months of 1995, and the number of nights spent at shelters increased by nearly 20 percent, according to the most recent survey of shelter use by the Maine State Housing Authority. Part of the increase is due to a slight increase in the number of emergency shelter beds available in the state, but the primary reason is a continued lack of affordable housing, according to the directors of the housing authority's Federal Funds Division, which includes homeless programs. "There are about 90 more homeless beds reported in the state this year than there were during the first quarter of 1994," said Peter Wintle. "But the major cause of the increase seems to be a lack of affordable housing and the need for more efforts to be made to prevent homelessness."

"Designated skippers" urged

ALEXANDRIA, VA.--More people will die in alcohol-related boating accidents this Fourth of July than on any other day of the year, according to the Boat Owners Association of the United States. There could be as many as 60 deaths, and alcohol will be a factor in almost half. "Drinking and boating is a serious safety issue any day of the week, but it's far worse on July 4th because it's a traditional festive occasion," said BOAT/US President Richard Schwartz. He urges boaters to appoint a "designated skipper" to refrain from consuming alcohol and keep a watchful eye on passengers. The U.S. Coast Guard enforces federal law, which sets a blood alcohol concentration standard of .10 as legal intoxication. A boat operator with a concentration above .10 is ten times more likely to be killed in an accident than one who has not been drinking.

100 years ago: Hattie Harris was learning typesetting at The Bethel News office. H.A. Perkins, the popular barber on Main Street, Bethel, placed an elegant marble slab and bowl in his shop, together with shampoo and shaving fixture. A man thoughtlessly fired a giant cracker on Main Street, which frightened a horse hitched near Biscoe's store; the wagon was demolished when the horse ran away but no one was hurt. The businessmen of Bethel agreed to close their stores at 6 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday evenings of each week until Oct. 1. John M. Philbrook began the erection of a residence on his lot on Main Street (now The Four Seasons). --Items in Looking Back are compiled by the Bethel Historical Society from back issues of The Bethel Citizen.

signs to be on opposite walls, but there was general agreement on the board that the location and structure of the building made it more practical and aesthetically pleasing to place the signs closer.

Placing the signs on opposite walls, the board agreed, would also create a traffic hazard -- as drivers would be forced to go around the Ring Road in order to see what movies were playing.

The board also agreed that the letters in the sign that lists the movies could occupy more than the 40 percent of the sign called for in the new ordinance.

Peter Rice presented the waiver applications to the board. He said the developers could have used the larger letters and still met the 40 percent limit -- but doing so would have meant enlarging the overall sign and "putting up a lot of waste white space."

The board agreed, finding that the net affect of granting the waiver would be a smaller, more aesthetically pleasing sign.

Road request tabled

The board tabled a request from Carl Hansen for an extension of the deadline for bringing up to town standards a road in his Egypt Mountain subdivision.

The road improvements were to have been completed by November 1994, but Hansen later received a one-year extension. Last week he was seeking additional time.

"Whatever you give me will be appreciated," he told the board.

The developer said he didn't want to spend the money now to improve the road. "I'm not going to generate any income from those road improvements; it's going to come out of my pocket, and I'd just like more time," he said.

But, asked board member Francis Dumont, "What guarantee do we have that the road will ever be built if we keep giving extensions?"

Hansen then said he would complete the work when he sold one more lot, and the board tabled the matter pending advice from the town attorney on whether an extension could be tied to such a commitment.

Other business

The board agreed to hold public hearing on Frances Head's application for the 40-seat Mayville Road Restaurant.

John Cheney, owner of the neighboring Norseman Inn, said he was "really looking forward to having a restaurant next door," but he also expressed concern about the noise and safety hazard if tractor trailers parked in the breakdown lane of Route 2.

The public hearing is been scheduled for July 12 at 6:30.

The board also approved a site plan amendment for Bethel Daycare. The amendment allows the business to be located in the basement of its building rather than the first floor.

At its next meeting the board is expected to review a site plan application for renovations at C.N. Brown Company's Big Apple store on Railroad Street.

Company representative Charles Sheehan told the board last week that the company plans to raze the wooden portion of the current building and use the cement block portion as an enlarged convenience store.

The heating oil offices will be moved to the current Red Top site on Route 2, Sheehan said.

YMCA organizers hoping to continue classes in Bethel

By ALISON ALOISIO

Bethel classes offered through the Oxford Hills YMCA won't be affected by the suspension of the Norway branch's operation. Not if Bethel program coordinator Debra Dohrmann and Crescent Park principal David Murphy can help it.

Classes for kindergarten through fifth-grade students, on topics ranging from computers to crafts to flag football began last November. The Oxford Hills YMCA sponsored and guided the new program, which saw 414 participants in 36 classes during the school year. The project was undertaken as a partnership between the school and the Y.

But last week the Norway-based branch decided to suspend its operations as of Sept. 30, due to complications resulting from the statewide reorganization of the organization. An Oxford Hills Community Center may be established instead to serve that area.

Dohrmann said paperwork for the Bethel program was conducted this year through the Oxford Hills Y. She and Murphy hope next year to handle it directly through the state office, thus maintaining course offerings as they are.

The state YMCA board was expected to discuss that option at a meeting Monday night, Murphy said.

He said other options might be to form an independent Bethel program, or establish an affiliation with the Lewiston-Auburn YMCA.

"We'll have the same things going on next year as we did this year. We just may not be calling it a 'Y,'" Murphy said.

From the Bethel Police log:

Trailer truck hits bear on Route 2

On June 23 at 11:08 p.m. a Bethel resident reported a bear had been hit by a tractor trailer truck on Route 2 just west of Big Bob's Store. On arrival police located the animal on a nearby resident's porch. The resident was advised to remain inside. Police remained at the scene until two game wardens arrived. The bear was then forced onto the lawn and dispatched by a warden and police. The tractor trailer sustained $400 in damage to the left front bumper.

Friday, June 23

A Bethel campground owner requested drive-throughs by police of the area where a large group of under-21-year-olds were camping. The owner had spoken with the group, who assured him there was no alcohol and there would be no problems. The owner felt the sight of the cruiser would help them keep their promise.

Saturday, June 24

At 10:15 p.m. a Bird Hill Road resident reported heavy traffic and a possible party on Bird Hill on the "Ledges" overlooking North Pond. On arrival police identified the subjects and advised them to leave, as they were on private property. Police and an Oxford County sheriff's deputy remained at the scene until they left. No further complaints were received.

At 11:01 p.m. police assisted an Oxford County sheriff's deputy at the report of a vehicle off the road and in North Pond off the Gore Road, at the bottom of McCrillis Brook Road. On arrival, police determined the operator had fled on foot.

At 11:30 p.m. police observed a vehicle off the road on Route 26 at the bottom of the Chandler Hill Road. The operator was not around. A tow-truck was called. A Norway resident then returned to the scene and reported she had lost control of the vehicle while trying to turn onto Chandler Hill, and went into the ditch.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log, but does not include all reports of police activity.

Augusta Roll Call Report

By STEVEN STYCOS

Each month while the Maine legislature is in session, the Augusta Roll Call Report will detail the key votes of our area's legislators during the previous month.

The Roll Call Report is intended to help voters decide whether how well their elected representatives are representing the people who elected them. The Citizen urges its readers to clip and save these reports and refer to them later this year when candidates for state representative and state senator are seeking votes.

The Roll Call Report is researched and written by investigative reporter Steven Stykos using official House of Representatives and Senate documents.

As the legislature struggles to craft a budget this month, Sen. Hanley (R-Oxford) is in the middle of it.

Appointed to chair the Joint Standing Committee on Appropriations and Financial Affairs this year, Hanley has pushed the conservative Republican agenda of spending cuts and tax reductions.

Last month, the Republicans, in control of the Senate for the first time since 1982, passed bills to reduce the sales tax from six to five percent (see Senate vote No. 7 below) and to slash the income tax by 20 percent (see Senate vote No. 6). Both the Senate and the House of Representatives also endorsed repeal of the sales tax on snack food (see Senate vote No. 4 and House vote No. 4).

The ultimate fate of the tax-cutting bills will be decided in budget negotiations.

The Republicans are unlikely to give up their demands for tax cuts easily, despite Gov. Angus King's promise to veto a budget containing them. Since neither party dominates the legislature and a two-thirds vote of both the House and the Senate is required to enact a budget, both Democrats and Republicans are in position to block a budget. A compromise will have to be struck.

Republicans are determined to cut the size and cost of state government. Sen. Stephen Hall (R-Piscataquis) summarizes the Republican strategy.

"As long as there's a dollar to spend, this place (the legislature) will spend it," he says, continuing, "If we cut taxes, then their feet are to the fire and they'll have to make cuts."

Democrats call the three proposed tax cuts irresponsible since the Republicans will not completely identify which state programs they want to cut to balance the budget. Tax cuts, they add, are not prudent given the state's perilous financial condition. "We need to get our fiscal house in order, pay outstanding bills and not shift costs to local property tax owners," says Sen. John Cleveland (D-Androscoggin).

The estimated loss in revenue from the three proposed tax cuts is approximately $112 million during the upcoming two-year budget. Hanley says the state can balance the budget and enact the three tax cuts by requiring state employees to pay 20 percent of their health insurance and reducing state spending.

But the price tag for the next two years masks the future costs of the tax cuts because the snack tax repeal and sales tax reduction will not start until April 1, 1997, the beginning of the last quarter of the biennial budget.

Costs would soar to hundreds of millions of dollars during the next biennial budget when all three proposed cuts are in full effect.

"A tax reduction of this size will likely cause a reduction in education aid to local communities, services to the mentally ill and mentally retarded and support for the elderly in nursing homes," Cleveland warns.

Hanley shrugs off that criticism, saying simply that when the tax cuts take full effect, "The State of Maine will have to live within its means just like the people of Maine must spend within their means."

Senate Democrats have their own priorities, says Senate Minority Leader Mark Lawrence (D-York) -- increase local property tax relief and restore welfare cuts proposed by Gov. King.

The Democrats and Republicans also propose different ways to stimulate the Maine economy. "The best incentive we can give to business to create more jobs is to cut taxes," says taxation committee chair Sen. John Hathaway (R-York). Lawrence counters that a research and development tax credit for business will spur investment. But University of Maine economists doubt either plan will have much effect.

"There's very little evidence from any state, over any period of time, that (state) tax cuts spur economic growth," says Charles Colgan, professor of public policy at the University of Southern Maine (USM). The effect is minimal, Colgan says, because state tax cuts do not increase spending in the economy, they just change who is spending the money. For example, a gas tax cut will give individuals more to spend at the store, he says, but the Department of Transportation will buy less sand, gravel and asphalt.

"Cutting (the sales tax) one or two percentage points," adds USM public policy professor Josephine LaPlante, "I can't see its going to accomplish anything." Her skepticism is not limited to the proposed sales tax cut. "How cutting the snack tax is going to help the economy is beyond me," she says.

What spurs economic growth, says Colgan, is investment.

That's why Lawrence, Sen. Norman Ferguson (R-Oxford) and others from both parties are pushing to establish a $250,000-a-year research and development tax credit for Maine corporations.

But that won't work either, says Colgan, a former state economist. The amount of money is too small to make a significant impact and the few companies that would qualify do little research and development in the state. "If you want to spur research and development," he says, "you don't do it in tax credits, you invest in universities."

That is unlikely to happen this year. Hanley proposes no increase in university funding while King's budget proposes a four-percent increase over the next two years.

NOTE: After a raucous public hearing, a majority of the judiciary committee decided to refer the "takings" bill, profiled in last month's Roll Call Report, to a task force for further study. The full legislature will decide whether to endorse that plan or pass the bill. The bill proposes to compensate land owners when zoning and government regulations reduce property values.

Below is a summary of this month's major roll call votes.

SENATE

ROLL CALL ATTENDANCE: Percentage of roll call votes for which a legislator has been present this year. (By May 30 the House had 122 roll call votes.)

1. MANDATORY SEAT BELTS: 4/27/95 vote on LD 165, sponsored by Sen. Joan Pendexter (R-Cumberland), to require all people use safety belts in motor vehicles. The bill also establishes a fine of $25 to $50 for a violation. Supporters say the legislature promotes the public health, while opponents say whether to buckle up should be a personal choice. The bill passed 19-14.

2. FUND CIVIL RIGHTS ENFORCEMENT: 5/3/95 vote on LD 914, sponsored by Sen. Dale McCormick (D-Kennebec), to spend about $300,000 a year to increase the staff of the Maine Human Rights Commission and the attorney general's office by six and one-half people. McCormick says the extra staff are needed to investigate discrimination and hate crime cases and eliminate a two-year backlog of cases. Opponents say the state cannot afford the cost. The bill passed 20-10.

3. WEAKEN REGULATION OF SAGO RIVER: 5/16/95 vote on LD 445, authored by natural resources committee chairman Willis Lord (R-York), to reduce regulation of the Saco River Corridor. The bill reduces the area included in the corridor from 500 feet to 250 feet from the high water line and permits buildings 150 feet closer to the river than current law. Lord says current law is too strict and the change will standardize Saco

River regulations with other state zoning requirements. But opponent Rep. Eleanor Murphy (R-Berwick) says the law which has worked well to protect a valuable recreation area and drinking water source should not be changed. The bill was defeated 15-19.

4. ELIMINATE THE SNACK TAX: 5/23/95 vote on LD 192, sponsored by Rep. Eleanor Murphy (R-Berwick), to repeal the sales tax on snack food on April 1, 1997. The bill is timed to have a relatively small effect ($2.2 million) on the biennial budget currently being drafted, but costs will at least quadruple in following years. Murphy says the tax is confusing and encourages people to shop outside the state. Opponents say the state cannot afford to lose the money. The bill passed 19-12.

5. INCREASE THE MINIMUM WAGE: 5/23/95 vote on LD 143, sponsored by Rep. Paul Volek (D-Sedgwick), to increase the minimum wage from its present level of $4.25 an hour, to $4.60 an hour in 1996 and $5 an hour in 1997. Supporters say the minimum wage has not kept pace with inflation and low paid workers deserve a raise. Opponents say the increase will discourage business from hiring workers. The bill was defeated 17-18.

6. CUT INCOME TAX: 5/17/95 vote on LD 238, sponsored by Senate President Jeffrey Butland (R-Cumberland), to gradually reduce the state income tax by 20 percent. The bill reduces the income tax rate every year so that the total amount of money collected from the tax remains the same. Over time, as wages and the population increases, the bill will reduce income tax rates by 20 percent. If passed, the state will lose an estimated $23 million in 1995-96, $60 million in 1996-97 and more in future years. To stop the growth of state government, supporters say, the growth in tax revenue must be stopped. Opponents say cutting the state's revenue before identifying which programs should be cut is irresponsible. The bill passed 18-16.

7. CUT SALES TAX: 5/18/95 vote on LD 1266, sponsored by Sen. John Hathaway (R-York), to cut the sales tax from six to five percent on April 1, 1997. The bill is timed to have relatively small effect, ($16.9 million) on the biennial budget currently being drafted, but will cost approximately $110 million a year in future years. Hathaway says the reduction fulfills a promise made in 1991 that the sales tax increase would be temporary. Opponents say it pushes major financial problems onto the next legislature. The bill passed 17-14.

HOUSE

ROLL CALL ATTENDANCE: Percentage of roll call votes for which a legislator has been present this year. (By May 30 the House had 122 roll call votes.)

1. MANDATORY SEAT BELTS: 5/3/95 vote on LD 165, sponsored by Sen. Joan Pendexter (R-Cumberland), to require all people to use safety belts in motor vehicles. (See Senate vote No. 1). The bill was defeated 70-76.

2. FUND CIVIL RIGHTS ENFORCEMENT: 5/16/95 vote on LD 914, sponsored by Sen. Dale McCormick (D-Kennebec) to spend about $300,000 a year to increase the staff of the Maine Human Rights Commission and the attorney general's office by six and one-half people. (See Senate vote No. 2). The bill passed 77-65.

3. WEAKEN REGULATION OF SAGO RIVER: 5/3/95 vote on LD 445, authored by natural resources committee chairman Willis Lord (R-York), to reduce regulation of the Saco River Corridor (see Senate vote No. 3). The bill was defeated 31-110.

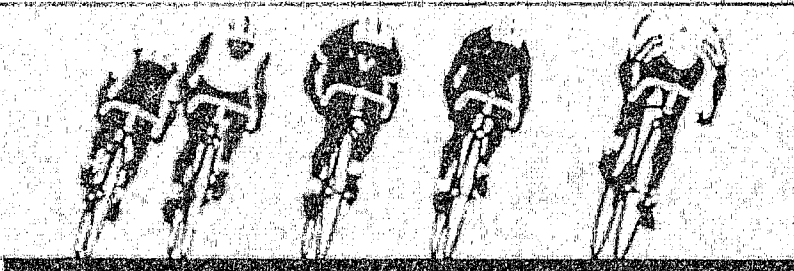

4. ELIMINATE THE SNACK TAX: vote on LD 192, sponsored by Rep. Eleanor Murphy (R-Berwick), to repeal the sales tax on snack food on April 1, 1997. (See Senate vote No. 4). The bill passed 73-69.

5. INCREASE THE MINIMUM WAGE: 5/23/95 vote on LD 143, sponsored by Rep. Paul Volek (D-Sedgwick), to increase the minimum wage from its present level of $4.25 an hour to $4.60 an hour in 1996 and $5 an hour in 1997 (see Senate vote No. 5). The bill was defeated 67-74.

6. CONTINUE BAN ON IRRADIATED FOOD: 5/18/95 vote to kill LD 603. The bill, sponsored by Rep. Richard Kneeland (R-Easton), repeals Maine's ban on the sale of irradiated food. Forty-nine states allow the treatment of food with radiation to postpone spoilage. Human resources committee chair Michael Fitzpatrick (D-Durham) says no health risks have been found from irradiation and being the only state with a ban isolates Maine. But Rep. Conrad Heesch (D-Wilton) says such is unknown about irradiation and that the state should promote sale of local food, not encourage processes to extend food's shelf life. The motion to kill Kneeland's bill failed 38-85. A "yes" vote is a vote to maintain the ban on irradiated food.

7. LEGALIZE MARIJUANA FOR MEDICINAL PURPOSES: 5/23/95 vote on LD 929, sponsored by Rep. Dorothy Rotondi (D-Madison), to allow people to use marijuana to reduce nausea or vomiting caused by chemotherapy, radiation treatment, or the HIV virus. Human resources committee chair Michael Fitzpatrick says the bill, drafted with the help of the attorney general's office, narrowly limits marijuana use for documented medical conditions. Opponents say until the federal government permits marijuana for medicinal purposes, Maine should not. Others worry the bill opens the door to wider marijuana use. The bill was defeated 60-69.

nights and warm, friendly non-commercial atmosphere." Schandemeier said each week's opening session features an introduction to Bethel by a community member. Speakers have included Al Barth, Brendon Bass, Karen Hakala, and Jack Brooks. So far, local businesses are seeing the usual numbers of NTLers coming through their doors. "We've seen quite a few people coming in," said Leslie Cooley, a clerk at Maine Line Products. Chris Blake at Prob's Pharmacy agreed, saying typical numbers have stopped in there as well. The extra numbers are expected to show up later. Schandemeier said there are generally more participants in July and August than in June. The season runs June through September.

Program offerings This year NTL will team up with Outward Bound for a week-long workshop in September. "This is the first joint Outward Bound/NTL program open to the public. It will combine NTL's expertise in group dynamics with the Outward Bound experience," said Schandemeier. NTL continues to offer its Sunrise Seminars free of charge. They take place most weekday mornings from 7:15 to 8 a.m., and feature presentations on a variety of subjects. Examples include NTL's work on conflict resolution in South Africa and Cyprus, along with presentations on large system change and healing relationships. Schandemeier said about two dozen people from the Bethel area enroll in workshops each season, generally on scholarship. She encourages area residents to call NTL if they are interested in applying.

and tipped over the guardrail, crushing the cab and spilling the lumber several hundred feet along the embankment. Lyons was not injured. The truck also broke a utility pole, taking down electrical and utility wires. The truck was a total loss. On Sunday a Cape Elizabeth motorcyclist received chest injuries when he collided with a truck in front of the Bryant Pond Post Office. According to Deputy Dane Tripp of the Oxford County Sheriff's Dept., the truck's driver, Timothy Boutilier, said he was headed south on the sharp corner by the Post Office when he saw Russell, who was headed north, look down for a second. Russell then crossed over the center line, slamming into the driver's-side door of the truck. He was taken to Stephens Memorial Hospital, where he was listed in stable condition Sunday night. A hospital spokesman said Monday he had been discharged. Also on Sunday, a 12-year-old Massachusetts boy was hurt when the all-terrain vehicle he was riding hit a tree on Crocker Pond Road. Kurt MacLean of Malden, Mass., failed to negotiate a curve, crossed the road and struck a tree head-on, according to OCSO Lt. Edward Quinn. MacLean was taken to Stephens Memorial Hospital with head injuries. He was transferred Monday to Central Maine Medical Center in Lewiston, where he was listed in fair condition Tuesday, according to a hospital spokesman. MacLean was not wearing a helmet at the time of the accident. Still later on Sunday, five Vermont residents escaped injury when their northbound pickup truck struck a bull moose on Route 26 in Woodstock. The truck was driven by Broan Hoar, 23, of Colchester, Vermont.

The Andover Public Library would like to display uniforms from World War II during their open house on Saturday of Olde Home Days. Anyone wishing to display a uniform is urged to contact Carol or Grace during library hours at 392-4841. The Olde Home Days' theme this year is the "Magic of Books" in keeping with the 20th anniversary of the Library Association.

A group of local women are interested in forming a self help menopause group. The first meeting will be held on Thursday, July 20, at 6:30 p.m., downstairs at the Andover Public Library. For more information please contact Geri Gaudet at 392-1261.

Wedding bells have been heard in the valley: among those exchanging vows in Andover this spring include Emily Gammon to Dennis Bodemer on May 27, Belinda Corriveau to Jason Glover on June 3, Naomi Kneeland to Kenny Learned on June 10, and Allyson Belanger to David Hanzl this past weekend, June 24. Congratulations and good luck to all.

Mrs. Dorothy Campbell recently returned to the University of Maine at Farmington to attend her college class reunion. Following her graduation 69 years ago, she taught at Magalloway Plantation and local schools.

Violet and Robert Swain were in Newfield over the weekend to attend her 60th class reunion from Lawrence High School. Classmates from California, two; Oregon, one; Ohio, one; Rhode Island, one; Connecticut, one; and Maine attended. The 83-year-old class adviser was a guest. There were 49 in the class in 1935. Eighteen died, no addresses for 14, eight "lost," and the rest had other commitments. Fourteen attended with guests.

A reminder to fellow graduates of Telstar Class of 1980. We're organizing our 15th reunion, preliminary plans are for a get-together in August in Bethel. Contact me for more information.

Mr. Richard Plantier has returned to his home in East Andover from Maryland to enjoy his retirement.

Paster Jane Rich has relocated south on the East Andover Road to the white house adjacent to Shirley and Franklin Gammon's home.

George and Ginny Gamble of Hanover, N.H. visited Florence Hastings June 17 to 18. They attended the wedding reception for Paul and Danelle Morton in Naples on June 18.

George and Ginny Gamble and Florence Hastings were away on Saturday, June 17, returning late in the evening. A big platform rocker was half out the window, the ground was all trampled up and the screen on the door had three big rips in it.

later in the night, George looked out and came face to face with a bear at the same window.

Sonny and Bettyann Hastings have a new grandson, Camron Alfred, son of Eric and Celeste Hastings of Reading, Mass., born on June 20.

Polly Smith will celebrate a birthday on June 30. She attended the wedding of Michael Smith and Vanessa Smith a Paris Hill on June 17.

Peggy Coolidge went on a Senior Citizens trip to Newfield on June 21. She enjoyed the trip.

Grace Gibson, Karen Marshall, Daisy Coolidge and Charlene Haines went on a trip to Foxwood, Conn. on June 24 and 25.

Richard and Pat Kimball visited their daughter, Penny, at Abbott's Anchorage on June 18. Penny's twins made a special cake for Richard for Father's Day.

Rudi Honkala picked up Rodney and Allan Howe at Logan Airport in Boston on June 15, after the Howes' trip to Alaska.

Rudi and Barbara Honkala were at UNH in Durham, N.H. on June 10 and 11 for Rudi's 50th class reunion.

On June 17, Florence Hastings, Lucy Nordahl and Barbara Honkala attended a baby shower for Ellen Hastings Franklin.

On June 18, Mr. and Mrs. Honkala attended the wedding reception for Paul and Danelle Morton in Naples.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Coolidge of East Dixfield visited Leland Coolidge on June 18.

Danielle Bernier is home from college and working now.

Jerry Bernier was on a canoe trip on the Allagash for five days. He went with a group under the sponsorship of Steve Keane's Wild River Adventures. He enjoyed the trip very much.

BROTHERS REUNITED—After 40 years of searching, Richard Littlefield's (seated left) hopes of finding members of his family are nearing completion. Thirty-two years ago the first discovery came in finding a brother, George Newman, who had been adopted at birth by a maternal aunt in Mason City, Iowa, after the death of their mother in Boston. At that time, Richard was living in various foster homes throughout southern and western Maine. During the next few years extensive searches through dozens of records produced names of cousins living in Portland, but they could shed little light on Richard's father or other family members, except that there was a half-sister somewhere. Records in Boston, Mass. disclosed a record of a half-brother born in 1939 and his father's death in 1941. However, locating either of these siblings was not to be. In May of this year, Richard received a call from Pat McCrillis of Palmyra, asking about his family background. After a few minutes of conversation, she informed Richard that her father was his older half-brother, John Brown (named Francis Littlefield — seated right) was adopted when a baby by older maternal family members. He grew up in the Madison area and now lives in Hartland. The two brothers visited by phone and met for the first time on June 3 at John's home. Doris Littlefield Hammond, John's sister now lives in Phoenix, Ariz. On a vacation trip to Virginia, Pat McCrillis again put her sleuthing skills to work and through a telephone computer disc found the youngest brother, Thomas Littlefield, in Quincy, Mass. who had no idea he had any siblings at all. Telephone calls are getting many questions answered and helping to get these siblings acquainted before finally meeting face to face. Sunday, at the Littlefield residence on the Rabbit Road in Bethel, John Brown and four of his nine children, and Richard Littlefield and four of his five children met for a new-union cookout and a serious look at family history, comparing similarities, medical histories and generally enjoying the founding of new family members.

Protecting Your Most Valuable Asset Isn't Child's Play...

There are lots of grown-up reasons to bring your children to a pediatrician for their health and well-being. My professional commitment is to your children's needs - and yours. (Sometimes concerned parents need reassuring, too.)

A pediatrician is specially trained to recognize and respond to the medical, emotional, social and informational uniqueness of youngsters, newborn through adolescence. Children are not just short adults, they are minds-and-bodies-in-progress for whom comfort and understanding is as important as high-tech treatment.

I can't cure the terrible twos, but, together, we can cope with your family's childhood.

The Strawberry Festival will be held at the church Saturday, July 1.

Charlotte West, Pennington, N.J. is at her cottage here on Twitchell or South Pond. I'm not sure which. Also the George Gibbs' and Helen Chase are at their camps for the summer.

Marcia Smith visited her aunt May Mills at the home of her uncle's and wife, Donald and Marolyn Mills, in North Norway on Tuesday and again on Thursday.

Mae Dunham has had a hip replacement and is convalescing at her home. Her daughter Eileen is taking some vacation time to be with her.

Hilda Dragoon and Rubina Bartlett of West Peru visited Charlotte Cole one day this week.

Vera Cross has been gone to an American Legion convention returning home Sunday, but she's been on the go and I haven't caught up with her to get any particulars. What a busy person she is.

What beautiful weather we've been having, once we got past that scorcher on Monday. I do not handle heat well and the car is not air-conditioned, so naturally that was the day I had to go get my daughter, Marcia, at the bus station in Lewiston where it was 98 degrees when I got there.

It wasn't too bad riding though. I find if I keep my hair wet it helps a lot so I took plenty of water and as soon as it dried out I would stop and douse myself again. Anyway it is good to have Marica home for a bit even though it is not home for her much anymore. My son, Ralph, plans to come Sunday for a few days, but that will be more of a working holiday as he had to cut up a tree that fell down near his camp and we have a few projects here we want to get done. He's camping in Littleton, N.H., for a few days with some buddies and figured he might as well come here when he's so close.

The Greens are having some work done on their house here. Right now it is just wrapped up but I suppose siding will go on top of that.

My yellow cat, Paddy, still hasn't returned so I guess some accident befell him. Cats who go into the swamp across the street are often victim and he had a habit of going over there. I saw a turtle pull a baby duck under the other day and it was so quick there was scarcely a ripple. For some reason it had strayed away from the pack. Anyhow I should have kept him in nights. It's bad enough to lose them but worse when it's through carelessness on my part.

By the way I was rather appalled by the present bill in front of the legislature that would entitle people to consider they owned a cat they had fed for ten days. Most animals will go anywhere for a handout. I certainly would not be pleased if someone coaxed my cats away deliberately. I used to feed strays and a couple of neighborhood cats refused to go home but I don't feed them anymore what with rabies about and skunks who get fat on the food. I also think of the cat who cost us $1,000 in medical bills. She's nice and healthy now and I sure wouldn't care to have put all that money into her and have someone else claim her to shoot her. Seems as if the legislator could find more things to do with their time.

A group of people from the Greenwood Historical Society and a couple from the Fire Department Auxiliary spent Wednesday cleaning the town hall. The windows sparkle inside and out. It has been some time since the hall was cleaned. I didn't know all the people there but Bob and Ginny Keniston and Jeanette and Mellen Kimball and Joann Kimball were among those from the Historical Society and Maggie Ring and Denise Swan from the FD auxiliary. I cleaned the refrigerator but that was my lone contribution. I had a black and blue ankle from the emergency brake on the car coming back quick and striking it and it was really hurting to stand on my foot so I never did get back to help after dinner as I had planned on doing. It still looks hideous but at least it doesn't hurt as much.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Noreen Russo. It's always sad to see someone so young pass away. Sympathy also to the family of Norma Burns.

Richard Wing was well remembered on Father's Day. His son Rick and grandson Doug stopped by for a visit and later in the day daughter Kellie and granddaughters Sarah and Jessie paid a visit.

Beverly Dayton and daughter Danielle from Florida will be spending some time with Beverly's mother and father, Claribel and Buster Poland, real soon.

Jessie Hart has had her first cast removed from her leg that was broken in May. This cast is a lot smaller and lighter and she can even go swimming with it. Jessie can put some weight on the leg now also.

Joyce Hathaway has been out taking her morning walks earlier and earlier so to beat the heat. Keep it up, Joyce!

Pete and Laurene stopped by for a short visit last night. Laurene has been working mostly the past couple of weeks. The shoe shop where she works has been slack a lot this spring.

Larry Billings, curator of Woodstock Historical Society, reports that Lorraine and Loren McDonald have given the museum items from the Ellery Estate. These include some rare china and brass. Francis Brooks and Annie Crockett recently watched the museum. The society has many interesting and research materials. The second annual "History Day" is being planned for the first Saturday in August. There will be a flea market, food sale and demonstrations and exhibits, if all goes as planned. President Evelyn Bean is organizing the event, so mark your calendar.

Birthdays being celebrated in June are Jerry Verrill, Marguerite Verrill, Kimberly Hadley, Lonnie Hadley, Maurice Morgan, and Elaine Wilday. Hope you all have a happy day. Also, Happy Anniversary to Elmer and Eda Waterhouse.

Hope you all remembered Flag Day on June 14. It's important that we show we're proud to be Americans.

Catherine and Donald Gensure called on Emma Billings and Lloyd Davis earlier this week. Catherine's mother was the adopted sister of Emma and Lloyd's father, Edgar Davis.

Mandy McInnis attended her summer orientation at Gordon College this past weekend. I have not spoken to her since her return, however, her mother, Robyn, reports that she had a wonderful time.

The Silvers enjoyed a weekend of camping at the Cupsuptic Campground in Rangeley. Joelle also attended Step-Up Day at the Woodstock School last week. It's hard to believe that my little cousin will be starting kindergarten in a couple of months.

Carroll Verrill called on Emma Billings. Then he came over to our house, where he visited with my father, as well as with me and Jason.

Irene and Sterling Mills hosted a small party at their Rumford Ave. home on Father's Day. Guests included Tammy, Jason, and Bridget Billings; Betsey, Carly, and Ross Cummings; Tim, Andrew, and Peter Mills; and myself. We enjoyed a slide show, courtesy of Tim, and a spaghetti dinner made by Irene.

That's it from North Woodstock this week.

officers were reelected. About fifty relatives, friends, teachers and classmates gathered here Saturday to help Norma Salway over the hill into the next half century. It was an enjoyable surprise. Guests came from Bethel, Hanover, Ousfield, Auburn, Portland and Old Orchard Beach. Many lovely gifts of flowers, plants, Canadian cash and other useful things were received and delicious refreshments served including two Tuesday I rode to Brunswick with daughter Dottie Adams.

Recent visitors of the Bill Bancrofts were Mrs. Agnes Lahti and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Gardiner of Waterford and Mrs. and Mrs. Bill Rich of Vermont.

Mrs. Ethel Herr has returned to her summer cottage here. Her daughter, Mrs. Betty Hacken of Hudson, N.H., is spending a few days with her.

Mrs. Norma Salway, Mrs. Barbara Ferguson, Mrs. Meg Cousins and Mrs. Amy Davis, former Locke Mills school teachers enjoyed their annual outing in Naples on Wednesday.

Greenwood City

by Colista Morgan

In the deepening dusk one evening recently I stepped outside and looked around me.

Light was draining from among the trees. Wood thrushes sang in the twilight. I saw my first fireflies wink among the ferns. The pond glowed as it caught and held the last light from a clear sky. Night was coming to the woods. I listened to all the variety of the wild sounds, on the far from silent night. The tree frogs repeated the soft musical fluttering of their calls. Their voices mingled together rose and fell, went on and on. Green frogs along the shore, at times, broke out in sudden strumming crescendos. The sound seemed to run in waves, one calling, set off another down the shore line. Then all would fall into silence but only for a brief time.

To the west across the water, above the trees the sky glowed with a pale greenish tinge. Looking behind me I saw the rising full moon; its great disk lifting among the trees. Minute by minute it continued to ascend, its misty light spreading more and more over the pond. I wished there were others with me to share the picture.

In a few minutes I returned to the inside and left the frogs and moon to enjoy the evening. The frogs talked into the night, while the moon traveled the world. At some time toward morning it peeped through my bedroom window into my eyes to bid me "good morning."

After church on Father's Day, Ann and I stopped at the farm as usual. Robert from Windsor his daughter, Jennie and a friend had arrived before us. In a short time Robert's son Ricky and two friends came. David and Mary arrived later. The count for dinner was twelve.

Milton and Eleanor Inman were out with their camper for the weekend.

I have a colony of gray squirrels, a few red ones and some chipmunks. The beast porcupine has returned to gnaw his way onto the porch. For a while, because he didn't like the board I put over "his place" he did no harm, but he learned to remove that. Now I put the board there again and hold it in place with quite large rocks. So until he learns how to handle those he can't chew.

The chipmunks are friendly. They will take seeds from my hand.

Rena Curtis, Albert and Marie Curtis, Glenn and Lillian Strait, Stephen and Colista Cogswell camped in Bingham over the weekend.

Gene and Anita Child, Cathy Child, Fred and Carol Hennenberg and Kara; Heather Peeling, all from Dixfield made a door yard call at Heritage Farm. They are related to the Chase-Barnett-McLeod families. Anita was a fellow employee and friend of Sylvia Wight many years ago and was happy to learn of her location. She intended to renew acquaintance on their return trip to Dixfield.

Ray and Violette Bernier entertained family and friends on Father's Day last Sunday. Guests included John and Avis Arata, Carol and Shirley Arata of Windthrop, Roger and Mary Arata of So. Carolina, Billy and Joyce Perry, Jr. and Karen of Gardiner, Dick and Betsy Clark of Newry, Freddie and Vangie Morgan of Readfield.

Several ladies met at the Ladies Aid Building for a work meeting last Tuesday. Yard sale leftovers were bagged ready for donation to ongoing charitable sales. Work was begun on quilts and ceramics.

Bethel

Bethel Senior Citizens will meet July 12, 11 a.m., at the Country Way in South Paris. Please note that this is a change in location.

(Items for the Bethel town column are always welcomed. Please include your name and telephone number.)

North Newry

by Gil Seelye

Bill and Sylvia Wight recently attended the annual International Sno-Mobile Congress in Cedar Rapids, Iowa. They represented the Windy Valleys Sno-Mobile Club from North Newry.

Services at the Newry Community Church was performed Sunday, June 18 with Pastor Rodney Hanscom at the pulpit and daughter, Nancy at the organ. The Message of the Day was: "A Tribute to our Fathers", from scriptures Jeremiah 3:19 "Thou shalt call me, My Father; and shalt not turn away from me". And a special from Gil Seelye, a poem, "My Father Blessed me".

Norman Tetley took Louise and I to the Rumford Community House Health Center last Monday to visit with Amy and Roger Hanscom, and found them trying to beat the heat, relaxing on the patio. Vida, their niece, was also there visiting them.

Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Gil Seelye, Louise Tetley and Olive Anderson, all members of the "Newry Bowling Gang" were at the Oxford Lanes in Rumford one day last week doing some fun bowling. Karlene was high on both the singles and triples. She has two spares, Betsy had two spares, Gil had one spare, Louise had four spares and Olive got one strike and one spare.

Too much rhubarb? How about some strawberry/rhubarb muffins? One and three quarters sifted flour, one half cup sugar, three quarters teaspoon salt, two and one half teaspoons baking powder, one egg, three quarters cup milk, one third cup oil, three quarters cup rhubarb and strawberry jam. Sift all dry ingredients, beat egg and add milk and oil, beat again, add dry ingredients, fold in rhubarb and strawberry jam, stir well, fill greased muffin tins two thirds full, bake at 400 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes. Mmmm good...

Briefly...Did you eat your honey? Here is a vitality cocktail: one cup orange juice, one tablespoon lemon juice or lime juice, two tablespoons honey, one egg yolk, warm orange juice and lemon juice slightly and beat in the honey, egg yolk, beat vigorously. Chill and serve. This is a wonderfully nourishing and excellent one-glass meal. Eat honey and live longer...

High Street

West Paris by Russell Yates

Flowdy folks. This is Tuesday morning June 20, and it is still warm this morning. It was so hot yesterday, that I expected we'd be nothing but grease spots come night.

Myrna and Whitey had dinner with us before returning to Auburn.

We attended the election of officers at West Paris Grange in the evening. Most of the present officers were reelected to serve the same offices for another year. Peggy will still be head of the CWA Committee and I was elected to be chairman for the next year. Officers will be installed into office in September.

Friday afternoon we shopped at Wal-Mart and met a couple of our friends, Dorothy Canwell, who lives at Oxford Meadow Apartments, and Lucille Robbins from Bryant Pond.

Saturday forenoon, I made up some bug catchers and put them out in the garden. I suppose it's cruel and abusive treatment to catch bugs, but it's also cruel what they will do to some of my garden vegetables.

Peggy and a friend attended the dance at West Paris Grange Hall and reported that they had a good attendance.

There will be a 50th wedding anniversary celebration for Richard and Barbara Felt at the Woodstock Elementary School, Rumford Avenue, Bryant Pond, from 5 to 8 p.m. on Friday June 30. Music by the Richard Felt band.

There will be a card/gift table and all are welcome. The party is hosted by daughter Sharon Silver and granddaughter Jennie.

There will be a dance at West Paris Grange Hall on July 1, with music by the Richard Felt Orchestra.

HEALTHY LIVING

Attitude Can Bolster Your Resistance

AP Special Feature

To keep healthy you not only have to eat right and have the right genes — you also have to think right. New medical evidence points to key emotional traits that can protect a person from diseases from colds to cancer, Catherine Clifford wrote in an article in the current issue of Redbook, and doctors are paying increasing attention to how your attitude can bolster your resistance. Among the traits that help keep you healthy and give you an immune personality.

Optimism. Health can be a self-fulfilling prophecy, according to David Phillips, professor of sociology at the University of California at San Diego. Good things appear to happen to people who expect them. Pessimism, fatalism and resignation have been linked in studies to poorer health, said Michael Scheier, professor of psychology at Carnegie Mellon University.

An unsinkable spirit. Dr. Kenneth R. Pelletier, clinical associate professor at Stanford University School of Medicine, analyzed interviews with 51 successful, healthy people to find the common threads in their approach to life.

In addition to good health habits — no smoking, low-fat diets, moderate exercise — they all treated "any stress or threat as a challenge rather than a negative event," Pelletier said.

Taking charge. A fighting spirit may provide the motivation, but what is called "active coping" puts that spirit into action. A take-charge attitude has been linked to better chances of beating disease, Scheier said.

Studies of breast cancer and melanoma patients found that active copers had higher survival rates. What active coping really means is that you believe you can take control.

Absence of malice. Scheier said studies have shown that people with a lot of hostility are especially susceptible to heart disease.

Knowing your feelings. Dr. Steven Locke, director of medical studies in the psychology department at Beth Israel Hospital in Boston, said people seem to be at greater risk for disease when they are unable to express themselves in emotional terms and instead describe bodily sensations.

"If you don't get your feelings out," he said, "they have a sort of toxic quality, like toxic waste you're not getting rid of."

A sense of humor. "Being able to laugh at yourself as opposed to ridiculing other people is very health enhancing," said Dr. Redford Williams Jr., director of the behavioral medicine research center at Duke University.

Pelletier added his study of successful, healthy people showed they shared "a remarkable sense of humor, particularly a self-deprecating form."

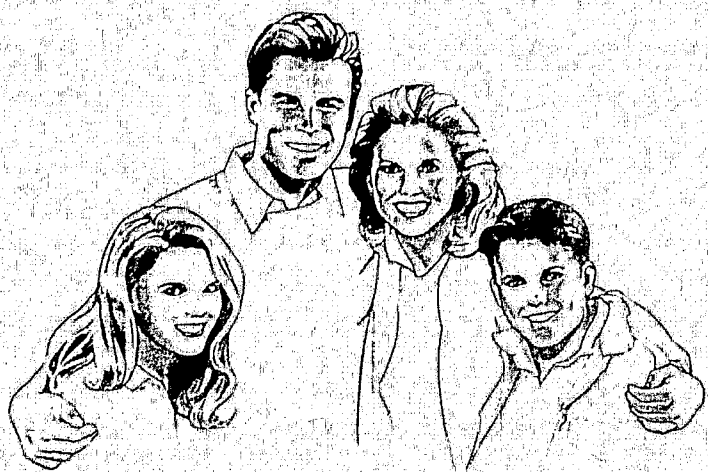

Altruism. Pelletier said his study subjects "saw the necessity of giving back to others, making the world a better place, doing something more with their privileged positions than just indulging."

"Altruistic behavior has a physically and mentally beneficial effect, research shows, and actually seems to be correlated with slightly longer life expectancy," he said.

If you have many of these traits you probably have another health bonus — social connectedness. A loving family and good friends can make a real difference in your health.

In one Yale University study of heart attack patients, those who answered "no" to the question, "Can you count on anyone to provide you with emotional support?" were more than twice as likely to die within six months than those who said they had two or more supportive people behind them, according to study director Lisa F. Berkman, professor of epidemiology.

"I frankly think it's love," Beth Israel's Locke says, "the sense of being connected to other people, that induces biochemical changes that are probably beneficial in the healing process."

BETTER SLEEP

Does Your Mattress Pass The Good Rest Test?

News USA

(NU) — Are you counting sheep when you should be catching zzz's? The problem could be that your mattress is even more worn out than you are.

In fact, if you're like many Americans, you've had your mattress much too long. When it surveyed U.S. consumers, the nonprofit American Innerspring Manufacturers Association came up with some eye-opening statistics: 13 percent of those surveyed said they have never purchased new bedding. Of those who have bought new bedding, 33 percent said the mattresses they replaced were 15 years old or older.

More than half told the trade association it's difficult to find information on selecting innerspring mattresses and boxsprings.

But sleeping on a too-soft or too-hard mattress can cost you more than a good night's sleep. Because it's a biological system, your back is in a constant state of change. When you sleep on a mattress that's too soft or too hard, experts say, your muscles have to work overtime to realign your spine into its proper position.

So how do you know when your mattress is all tucked out? AIM has these tips:

- Take a close look at your mattress. If you see hills and valleys, and lumps and bumps, your mattress is losing support. It's time for a new one.

- If your mattress creaks and and squeaks when you lie on it, it may be asking for retirement.

- Sit on the edge and check for support and see if it returns to its original shape.

- If you've had your mattress for more than 10 years and you haven't turned it regularly, chances are it's worn out.

- If your back hurts when you wake up in the morning, you probably need a new mattress.

When you go shopping, AIM says, select a store you trust. And wear comfortable clothes and shoes that are easy to slip on and off so you can take a test rest on as many models as possible.

Lie down on each model for several minutes and turn from side to side to check comfort and support in all positions.

For more information on healthy sleep and shopping for a new mattress, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to American Innerspring Manufacturers, 1918 North Parkway, Memphis, TN 38112. Or call AIM's hotline at 1-800-TUCK-ME-IN.

New Procedure for Prostate Surgery

News Release From:
Androscoggin Valley Hospital

Men who have prostate problems requiring surgery can now look ahead to a new technique done as an ambulatory surgical procedure. Known as transurethral vaporization of the prostate (TVP), this is a simple procedure done with a vaporization electrode. This uniquely designed electrode has the high current density needed for the effective removal of tissue through vaporization, with minimal bleeding.

Edward Garcia, MD, urologist, Berlin, N.H., explains that the prostate gland in the male surrounds the neck of the bladder and urethra. Enlargement of the prostate is a common complaint in men over 50 years of age. When this happens, the prostate interferes with the normal passage of urine from the bladder. If left untreated, further problems can result.

Dr. Garcia performed TVP on his first patient at Androscoggin Valley Hospital, Berlin, in early June. The entire procedure was done in less than an hour. It was less traumatic for the patient and he experienced quick recovery. Dr. Garcia said the patient had very little discomfort and did not need any medicine for pain.

In traditional prostate surgery, patients are hospitalized for several days. They routinely require an indwelling catheter for a minimum of three days before urinating on their own, and usually experience a burning sensation and some bleeding for a period following surgery. With TVP, a catheter may only be used for half a day, there is no meaningful bleeding and perhaps a slight burning sensation on occasion. Recovery is usually quick and painless.

Prostatectomy is also done with laser surgery. However, Dr. Garcia said that studies from California (Loma Linda Medical Center) and Boston (Boston University) reveal excellent results with TVP and it is a method where tissue samples can easily be obtained. This is not the case with laser surgery. He added that there is no significant post operative irritation with TVP as there is with laser surgery due to excess sloughing of tissue. "You also avoid long use of a Foley catheter. Evidence leaves us to believe that TVP is more effective than laser prostatectomy. TVP results in less morbidity and it vaporizes tissue more rapidly than lasers," he concluded.

Dr. Garcia said prostate problems are a major health issue facing men over 50. He recommends that all men over age 50 have an annual rectal exam to detect an enlarged prostate gland and have the problem treated early if needed. This can be done by medicine or surgery depending on the clinical situation and need.

"Ringing in the Ears"

brought to you by: Sparkes Hearing Services

Almost 40,000,000 adults suffer from tinnitus, often simply referred to as ringing in the ears or head noises. While tinnitus does not cause hearing disorders, it may accompany decreased hearing and other ear symptoms such as pressure, unsteadiness, or dizziness. Often, it occurs alone.

CAUSES

One of the most frequent causes of tinnitus is wax buildup in the outer ear canal. Likewise, other obstructions of the external ear canal could give rise to ear noises. Removal of the irritant relieves the sound.

Perforation in the eardrum or fluid accumulation behind it often provokes tinnitus. Other causes of middle ear head noises may involve infection, allergy, injury or arthritis.

Tinnitus arising from the inner ear frequently indicates more permanent and serious disease. Exposure to a sudden loud noise — a gunshot or explosion, for example — results in tinnitus that subsides to a point and then may persist at a low level for an extended period of time. Disorders affecting the cochlea (hearing center) of the inner ear can cause tinnitus.

TREATMENT

Correcting treatable causes of tinnitus (e.g., allergy, syphilis) often will improve the condition. However, when the cause is unknown, or when head noises arise from within the cochlea, auditory nerve, or brain, treatment becomes more difficult. Because of the direct association between the hearing mechanism and the nervous system, tinnitus sufferers have been advised to avoid the nervous tension, fatigue, and stimulants. Sedatives may offer some people temporary relief.

The only other approach that so far has achieved any success has been masking the ringing with other sounds to distract the individual's concentration on tinnitus. Mild tinnitus is unnoticeable in the presence of background noise at a higher volume. Thus a loud-ticking clock, a radio tuned to the static between FM stations, or a commercial noise generator can provide enough competing sounds to allow some people to sleep.

When head noises are loud enough to interfere with daily concentration, people with normal hearing may be helped by a tinnitus masking device worn like a hearing aid. For those with hearing impairment, a hearing aid may drown out the ringing with other ambient noise. When a hearing aid doesn't completely mask the tinnitus, a combination hearing aid/tinnitus masker built into one case, called a tinnitus instrument, can be used.

OPENING REEL SOON—The Casablanca Movie Theater is set to open Saturday, with a marquee that offers "Judge Dredd," "Apollo 13," "Casper" and "Power Rangers." The projection room, shown here, was still being worked on over the weekend, but water to the building (and the adjacent railroad station) had been turned on a few days earlier, and the theater was hurriedly being made ready for the public. The last commercial movies shown in Bethel were at the Bethel Theater (on the current site of the Bethel House), which closed in the late 1950s.

Safe Hangouts summer activities listed

Last Wednesday, June 21, Safe Hangouts, a part of the Western Regional Partnership, sponsored its first chemical free activity of the summer. Twenty-three youngsters in grades six through eight journeyed to the Royalty Athletic Club in Gorham, N.H. to enjoy swimming, volleyball, basketball and pizza.

Safe Hangouts has developed a summer program to help area young people participate in activities that are chemical free. The goal is to provide healthy alternatives for fun and to promote the concept of natural highs. To this end, the Western Regional Partnership, through grants, has enabled Safe Hangouts to plan events for area youth.

The trips are generally separated into two age categories; middle-school age and high-school age. The trips will originate and end at the Telstar Complex. Drop off and approximate pick up times are listed. A schedule for the summer follows:

June 28: high school-Royalty Athletic Club, 4:45 to 10:30 p.m.
 June 30: middle school-Fun Town, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.*
 July 1: middle school-Sea Dogs Game, 4:30 to midnight*
 July 9: middle school-Sea Dogs Game, 1:30 to 9 p.m.*
 July 12: high school-Mt. Biking, 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.
 July 21: high school-Sea Dogs Game, 4:30 p.m. to midnight
 July 26: middle school-Crescent Beach State Park, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.
 Aug. 2: high school to Crescent Beach State Park-9 a.m.-6 p.m.
 Aug. 4: high school-Sea Dogs Game, 4:30 p.m. to midnight
 Aug. 7: middle school-White Water Rafting, 5 a.m. to 5 p.m.
 Aug. 8: high school-Hiking, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.
 Aug. 10: high school-White Water Rafting, 5 a.m. to 5 p.m.
 Aug. 11: middle school-Auburn Mall, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.
 Aug. 12: high school-Maine Mall, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Aug. 13: Family Cookout for all participants, Stony Brook Campground, 12 noon to 4 p.m.
 Aug. 15: middle school-Hiking, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.
 Aug. 16: middle school-Crescent Beach State Park, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. (* denotes no vacancies)

Because the Fun Town trip has proved to be so popular, a second trip will be scheduled if there is enough interest. Sign-up for activities, permission and liability forms are available at the Superintendent's Office at Telstar, 824-2185, or at the Regional Partnership's office in the Ta-Ka-Radi building in West Bethel, 836-2415.

A non-refundable one dollar bus fee is expected to reserve a spot for each trip, with a signed permission for each activity and one liability form for the whole program.

Volunteers are needed to chaperone many activities. If you have questions, suggestions for activities, or need to sign up for a trip, please call the numbers above.

FROM THE

Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

This is a very busy week, preparing for our first official event of the summer -- the Sixth Annual Bethel Art Fair to be held on Saturday, July 1. The rain-out date is Sunday, July 2. Nearly 50 artists and fine craftspeople from all over Maine and from as far away as Oklahoma will be displaying and selling their work. The Mahosuc Arts Council has supported a wonderful addition to our fair, a George York inflatable sculpture to decorate our common, Sunday River Ski Resort is donating their tent, where there will be children's art activities and food prepared by the local churches. Lunch food will be provided and sold by local restaurants. We plan to have classical music playing all day except from 9:30-11:30, when we will be treated to "Side by Side" from Farmington, who play a variety of light jazz and easy listening music. From 9-11 a.m. people will be able to view those works entered into the art judging in the Bethel Inn's Gibson Room. Romeo and Jo Baker will be our art judges this year. The public will also be able to view a children's art exhibit, which will be displayed on the common.

Many people are to be thanked for their contributions toward making this event a success. Besides the Art Fair Committee of Rene McGrew, Gail Giarusso and Tom McGinniss, we have nearly three dozen program sponsors and donors. A complete list will appear in our Art Fair Program. Art raffle tickets are available to win an original piece of art created by Gail Giarusso, a work created by Angela Farnum of Woodstock and a $25 gift certificate to Bethel Frames. These tickets are $1 each or six for $5 and may be purchased at the Bethel Savings Bank, the Bethel Inn, the Chamber of Commerce Office or on the common the day of the fair.

The Education Committee of the chamber, comprised of Cathy Newell, Lois Ruff, Judy Foster and Nancy Harrison met last week to review the Training Needs Surveys that have been returned. If your business has not filled one out or needs another copy, please call the office, it is not too late to participate.

The chamber would like to thank all businesses who pledged or contributed funds to enable fireworks on July Fourth. Our goal was $1,500, which would have paid for a 18-minute show. The Special Projects Committee of Joe Cardello and Barbara Brown, with a late start, were successful in raising just over $1,000, but short of the needed funds to pay for the show. We would like feedback during the course of the year on if we should pursue this for next year. Again, thanks to those who did offer to contribute and to Joe and Barbara for their hard work.

Dean's list

Misty Lynn Hutchins, daughter of Jeffrey and Elaine Hutchins of Gilead had been named to the Dean's list for both the fall and spring semesters at Babson College, Babson Park, Mass. A 1994 Telstar graduate, she is studying International business management and has finished her freshman year with a 3.59 GPA.

Kimberly York of Bryant Pond has been named to the Dean's List for the spring trimester at Johnson and Wales University in Providence, R.I. To receive the honor, a student must earn a cumulative grade point average of 3.40 or above.

York is majoring in food marketing.

The following students have been named to the University of Southern Maine's Dean's List for the spring semester:

Pamela Bennett and Tracey Brady of Bethel, David Hanscom of West Bethel, Nathaniel Buckman of Bryant Pond, Kristen Powell of Hanover, and Heidi Adams and Phyllis Buchanan of West Paris.

Jennifer Gould of Bethel achieved Honors status on the Dean's List for the Spring '95 semester at Westbrook College. Gould is majoring in Dental Hygiene.

Honors are granted to students who earn a grade point average of 3.2 to 3.4.

Gould is the daughter of Tibby York.

Cherilyn Myers of Bethel, daughter of Vicky and Bill Myers and granddaughter of Barbara and Norris Brown, has been named to the Dean's List at Eckerd College in St. Petersburg, Fla.

She has completed her freshman year as a business/marketing major, and attained a 4.0 grade point average the spring semester.

College grads

Nathan P. Misericordi, son of John and Betty Misericordi of Andover, was among 360 graduates to receive a bachelor's degree June 5 from Bates College during the college's 129th commencement exercises.

He graduated magna cum laude, receiving high honors for his thesis in English and Russian, and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. He was a dean's list student, and spent his junior year in Russia. He is a 1990 graduate of Telstar Regional High School.

Amy Colvocoresses Laban of Bethel received a degree from Plymouth State College on May 20.

Laban received a Bachelor of Science degree in Management, conferred at the school's 124th Commencement.

She was one of 34 Maine residents receiving degrees from Plymouth State.

Community picnic on July 4

The third annual community picnic sponsored by the Bethel Historical Society will be held on July 4 on the grounds of the Dr. Moses Mason House, beginning at about 11:30 a.m. with a Fourth of July historical presentation by Jim Rose.

This will be followed by a concert by the Portland Brass Quintet, whose appearance has been made possible by grants from the Maine Arts Commission, the Mahosuc Arts Council, and the Bethel Historical Society's Hall Memorial Fund. Other contributors include Mundt-Allen American Legion Post, the Bethel Rotary, John and Fumiko Head, Margaret Joy Tibbetts, Richard and Jane Hosterman, Mildred Thomas, Edna York, Kenneth and Gwyneth Bohr, Robert and Bethia Newmarker and Florine Bowden.

Anyone wishing to make a tax deductible contribution to support the Portland Brass Quintet's appearance is urged to send it to the Society at P.O. Box 12, Bethel, Maine 04217-0012. In case of rain, the concert will be held in the historic Middle Intervale Meeting House, the town's oldest surviving religious structure, dating back to 1816. The Mundt-Allen Post Color Guard will also participate in the opening ceremonies.

The present tradition of a community picnic was inspired by the example of Dr. Moses Mason, who in the 1850s opened his grounds for brass band concerts and Fourth of July orations.

Middle Intervale Meeting House

A special meeting of the Middle Intervale Meeting House Society is being called by the President to assemble at the Meeting House at 2 p.m. on Sunday, July 9. The agenda will consist of a report by the Building Committee to discuss proposed maintenance projects and expenditures. A report by the Fundraising/Programs Committee will also be given which will include discussion and preparation of upcoming events as well as the possible addition of future events.

Upcoming will be the August Hymn Sing, The August Quilt Show, and a July evening with the Bethel Community Band accompanied by Josiah Thatcher, a farmer-turned-minuteman who will be recalling the Boston Stamp Act Riots of 1765.

Proposed new events will include a religious service in September, an Apple, Pumpkin, Molasses and Boston Bean Festival in October, a New England Halloween Ghost Story Program for young people, a December candle-lit Community Christmas Concert, and an amateur folk legend contest in May. A discussion of membership issues is also slated. The public is invited to attend.

POSITION OPENING

Town of Bethel invites applications for a temporary (two year) part time (20 hours) management assistant to begin work July 1995. This position offers flexible hours in a dynamic work environment. The successful applicant will be responsible, discreet, and experienced in several of the following areas: financial analysis, program evaluation, contract administration, computerized information management, risk management, employee development, public relations, budget preparation and control and clerical support. Please submit resume and salary requirements by 5:00 PM, Friday, June 30 to Madeleine Henley, Town Manager, PO Box 108, Bethel, Maine 04217.

The Town of Bethel is an equal opportunity employer

Greenwood/Woodstock Summer Swim Program to Begin July 10

Summer swim lessons for Bryant Pond and Greenwood offered at Greenwood Town Beach will begin July 10 at 8:30 am. Lessons will run for 3, perhaps 4 weeks, depending upon enrollment, and ending July 28 for a 3-week session or August 4 for a 4-week session. All levels of American Red Cross swim instruction will be offered, including a new Community Water Safety Program as well as Water Safety Aide. The program will be run by Deborah Carlsen, a certified Water Safety Instructor (WSI), a certified lifeguard, as well as a certified Lifeguard Instructor (LGI).

Registration is being held now at the Woodstock & Greenwood Town Offices. Preregistration is highly recommended as registration on the first day creates extra confusion.

BUCHERT SERVICES

Family and friends are invited to attend committal services for Helen Buchert on July 4 at 3 p.m. at Elm Valo Cemetery in South Waterford. Arrangements by Raymond/Weston-Chandler Funeral Home, Norway.

Card of Thanks

We would like to thank you all for the generous outpouring of support over these last few weeks.

All the cards, prayers, gifts to the library, flower arrangements, food and other kind gestures continue to overwhelm us.

It is a tribute to the life of Monique Rolfe and a comfort to us to be blessed with so many friends.
